Novel Coronavirus Travel Advice and Restrictions

Note: As this is a rapidly evolving situation, this information is subject to change at short notice based on updated risk assessments and recommendations.

Bermuda has issued the following travel advice and restrictions:

The Epidemiology and Surveillance Unit and Health Officers assisting in the prevention and control activities for novel coronavirus are utilizing the guidance from the US Centers for Disease Control for conducting risk assessments on travelers: Risk Assessment and Public Health Management for Potential 2019-nCoV Exposure in Travel-associated or Community Settings, <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/php/risk-assessment.html>

Residents of Bermuda: Travel to mainland China should be avoided at this time due to the risk of the novel coronavirus. Residents returning from mainland China will undergo a travel risk assessment and may be subject to movement restriction and health monitoring for up to 14 days.

Visitors to Bermuda: If you have spent any time in mainland China in the past 14 days travel to Bermuda is discouraged. Visitors will undergo a travel risk assessment by a Health Officer. Depending on risk assessment, they may have their health monitored and movement on island restricted for up to 14 days.
